

My Support network

When things are tough, it helps to talk to someone you trust about how you are feeling. It is not good to keep feelings bottled up. Remember you are not on your own! Write in the names of all the people who care for you!

